Are You A Serious Family Researcher?

What kind of family history researcher are you? Most of us are late starters. We wait to start doing this thing after all our relatives who know anything factual are dead. I'm not asking about that kind. I'm wondering how serious you are and how you are sticking with it.

The family reunion variety of "researcher" gets interested in his family's history once a year. He lets his cousin do the work.

The passing interest variety can dig out the three-generation charts they put together ten years ago before they got discouraged and became interested in something else.

The curious with computer variety is the newest. This person has found something new to do with the computer. They become fascinated with all the people they can contact who can tell them something about their surname and even some who have done research on their line. They are convinced that their computer is the road to successful ancestor hunting.

The serious researcher owns a "how to" book and has probably attended a seminar or class on genealogy. They write lots of letters and travel to court houses, libraries, and cemeteries in other states. They may or may not have a computer, but they know the computer is one of many valuable tools to help with genealogy correspondence, record keeping, and understanding of relationships. Their interest may come in "spurts" but they have the patience to stay with the search year after year.

We hope the serious researchers are the ones who stay with Sanders Siftings and help everyone else. ■

A Sanders Family—Northants (England) To Texas In 500 years; Part IV (Final)

This is Part IV and the final part of a series of articles on the history of Sanders who started in Northhamptonshire (Northants), England, and came to the Virginia, then to East Texas. This is from a recently published book by Howard K. Sanders of Nashville, Tennessee, titled A SANDERS FAMILY—Northants to Texas in 500 Years.

Chapter V

"GTT"—GONE TO TEXAS

The eldest son of Thomas and Elizabeth Saunders was Stanford L., born in 1800. As noted previously, Stanford was one of seventeen children. The second child of Stanford and his wife, Martha Lebow, was Joel Kyle who was born in 1824. Joel K. married Amy Delane Maness and in 1857 they left the environs of McNairy County, Tennessee, bound for Texas.

There was a significant movement of Tennesseans to the Lone Star State in that time period. It is best illustrated by an anecdote of the origin of the expression, "GTT." The story goes that the people in Tennessee who were anxious to move on to better land, or newer opportunities would merely close up their houses and, with the charcoal left from their last cooking fire, write the letters "GTT" on their front door—Gone To Texas. Some have opined that Joel's reason for leaving might have been because of a political rift in the family, possibly caused by the oncoming war between the states. (Thus far, no documentation for this has been found.)

They settled in a community known as Center Hill in Houston County, Texas. The community was located approximately five miles north of Lovelady and two miles east of Highway 19, the route which links Lovelady with Crockett, nine miles to the north. It is situated on an unpaved north south road which is referred to as the "Old Lovelady Road." All that remains of the community is the cemetery which is still referred to locally as the Center Hill Graveyard.

Ultimately, the family of Joel and Amy would grow to 13.

As Joel Kyle arrived, "East Texas was the epitome of frontier living at that time. During the early part of the 19th century, settlers from the Southern United States began heading west, driven by their pioneering spirits and lured by the chance to make a new start. When they crossed the Sabine River into Texas they found dense forests laced with innumerable swamps and creeks. Some turned back discouraged by the gloomy atmosphere of the forest and the difficulty of traveling through the trees. Others pressed westward—toward the prairies. But many stayed, finding areas in which to settle and avoiding the forbidding big thicket and the sterile soils of the 'pine barrens.'

"Nature was good to these early-day East Texans. There was clean water and plenty of wood for their houses. Abundant deer, turkeys and squirrels meant plenty of fresh meat for the table. Bears provided meat also, and bear fat was good cooking oil. Settlers trapped beavers, otters, opossums and raccoons and sold the skins or used them for bartering.

"There were pesky animals as well. Green-and-yellow birds known as Carolina parakeets ravaged the farmer's corn fields and picked their fruit trees bare. Panthers roamed the thickets and swamps, and a lanky, foxlike wolf—the red wolf—inhabited the pine and bottomland hardwood forests.

"By the time the 19th century drew to a close deer had declined dramatically in number and turkeys soon would be gone altogether. Squirrels were far less abundant than they had been, and beavers and otters had almost disappeared.

Joel Sanders, Civil War Veteran, Dies In 1935 At Home in Bogard, Missouri

Submitted by Teresa McMillan, 1900 Shorewood Lane, Mound. MN 55364 1317, [tmcmillanb@worldnet.att.net]. From newspaper in Carrollton, Mo.

"Joel Sanders, 89 years old, one of the few surviving Civil War veterans in Carroll Co, died suddenly at his home in Bogard, Wednesday morning, February 6, 1935 at 9:00 o'clock.

"Mr. Sanders arose at the usual hour Wednesday morning and ate a hearty breakfast. Following this, as was his custom, he lay down on a day-bed for a few minutes' rest. Shortly afterward his daughter, Miss Laura A. Sanders, entered the room and spoke to her father. When he did not answer she investigated and found him dead.

"Mr. Sanders was born near Painy, Ill., October 20, 1845, the son of Joel and Jennie Sanders, of Kentucky. His grandfather was a soldier under General Washington in the Revolutionary War. At the age of two years he moved with his parents to Adair county, Kentucky, where he lived until he was 15 years of age, when the family moved to Morgan county, Indiana, and resided there until 1862. In August, 1862, at Indianapolis, he enlisted in the Thirty-Third Indiana regiment, being only 17 years old at the time. He served with gallantry in the Union army through the Civil War and was honorably discharged at Louisville, Ky., in 1865.

"February 14, 1866, Mr. Sanders was married to Miss America Sebastian. Nine children were born of the union, three of whom are living: Arthur D. of Bogard, Miss Laura A. of the home, and Luther G. Sanders of Frederick, Oklahoma.

"Besides the children he leaves six grandchildren: Mrs. Leona Glaze, Bogard; Louis Clinton Sanders, Chicago; Mrs. Grace Joiner, Miss Pearl Sanders, both of Frederick, Okla.; Miss Reta and Miss Elva Sanders, both of Rochester, N.Y.

"The wife, three children, Mary Lula, Elvert G. and Melvin G. Sanders, preceded him in death, together with three other children who died in infancy.

"In his earlier years Mr. Sanders traveled extensively, residing for a time in Oklahoma, later in New Mexico. In 1889, he went to the first opening of the Indian territory for settlement, and was one of the original boomers. The latter years of his life were spent on a farm near Bogard and in the town itself.

"Mr. Sanders cast his first vote for U.S. Grant.

"In 1874, Mr. Sanders united with the Baptist church, which membership he retained until 1909, when he united with the Christian church, in which organization he retained his membership until death.

"Despite the fact that he was denied a proper education due to the privations of the early days, Mr. Sanders was a self-made man in the truest sense. He was a man of more than ordinary native ability and overcame obstacles that at times seemed insurmountable. He stood high among his fellow men, creating for himself a reputation for industry, thrift, and integrity, which won for him the admiration of all with whom he was associated." ■

More About The Litchfield Library

Interest has been high in the Sanders/Saunders collection in the Litchfield, Illinois, Library since the valuable volumes put together by Walter Sanders were made known to readers in the April 1997 issue of Sanders Siftings.

Reader John Konvalinka put me in touch with David Jackson, a resident of Litchfield who was instrumental in getting the Walter Sanders' collection in the Litchfield Library.

David is a former editor of the News-Herald, a local newspaper, and a former student of Walter Sanders who was a high school teacher in Litchfield from 1941 to 1969. Walter Sanders died Feb. 23, 1984. The following is from a column David Jackson wrote in the News-Herald shortly after Walter's widow died in 1995:

"Among Litchfield's treasures, certainly, must be included the late Walter R. Sanders, a high school history teacher, officer and member of the Illinois and the Montgomery County Genealogical Societies, family and professional genealogist, author and compiler, and friend to a generation of high school pupils during their time in school and thereafter.

"He was born in Litchfield, a son of the late Ray E. and Maude Blanche Sanders, attended local schools, and after graduation from Litchfield High School attended Illinois College in Jacksonville, matriculated to the University of Illinois where he was granted the BA and MA degrees.

"It was probably his inspiration of high school pupils for which he is most remembered. During the years, especially just after World War II, he dispatched crews of high school pupils to cemeteries throughout the area to transcribe information from all of the tombstones."

A scholarship fund in memory of Walter Sanders has been established and gifts may be addressed to David A. Jackson, 17 Northcrest Drive, Litchfield, IL 62056-1372.

More on Walter Sanders later. ■

A Sanders Family

"The region known as East Texas covers some 24 million acres from the Louisiana border to the Trinity River. Far to the east is the 'Pineywoods,' where low-lying pine forests line the major rivers and tributaries. In the southeastern pineywoods lies the Big Thicket, a mass of pines and hardwoods, subtropical jungles, cacti and yucca. Moving west toward the Trinity River, the landscape becomes more open. Oaks, elms and pecan trees occupy a slightly higher elevation. This area, the post oak savannah, is a transitional region between the forest and the prairie.

"Predator populations were the first to feel the effects of human exploitation as settlers began arriving in the area. There had been a few jaguars or 'leopard cats' as well as some mountain lions, known as panthers, when the first settlers reached East Texas. The jaguars were gone by the early to mid-1800s. Panthers had disappeared by the turn of the century, although to this day people claim to hear them scream on dark East Texas nights. The black bear was mostly gone by 1900, although a few remained until the depression.

"The red wolf hung on longer than the other predators, but finally succumbed to habitat loss, predator control and interbreeding with coyotes. Once common over the eastern half of the state, by 1973 they had retreated to a 1,700-square-mile area along the Texas and Louisiana coast.

"Prior to 1900, human settlement had little impact. Settlers cleared a piece of land, farmed it until it was worn out, then moved on and cleared another piece of land while the old land grew into brush. But with the turn of the century came a population boom. Many East Texas counties had more people in 1900 than they have today. This large human population 'lived off the land' and hunting was heavy on deer and turkeys. With the Great Depression in 1929, people who had hunted for sport began hunting with even more intensity out of necessity to feed their families."¹

It was into that environment that Joel Pinkney Sanders was born to Joel Kyle and Amy Sanders on February 22, 1867. He married Mary Frances Wise, born November 19, 1871, and they had six children, of whom four survived and had families of their own. Those children were Vernon, Wilma, Howard and Elma. Joel Pinkney (Pink, as he was called) had a chair factory and sold chairs to most of the residents of Lone Pine, Stingey Corner, Prairie Point, Cut, Shiloh and Lovelady and Crockett. These chairs were typical of the times, made of wood with cowhide bottoms. Pink had quite a reputation as a hunter, rifleman and all around sportsman. In fact, his liking for the sport of fishing cost him his life. He, Adam Leediker and a Mr. Burton were fishing from a small wooden rowboat, just below the wickets of the Upper Lock and Dam on Trinity River when they were pulled into a whirlpool caused by the water rushing over the wickets of the dam. The boat capsized and sank, drowning both Pink and Mr. Burton. Adam Leediker was helped ashore by a black woman fishing from the nearby bank with a long cane pole which she extended to him. Ironically, he was the only one of the three who couldn't swim. This occurred on June 3, 1927. Mary Frances had died earlier, on January 9, 1909, reportedly of "dropsy." Pink never remarried. Thus far there is no clue as to Mary Frances' lineage.

Guy Vernon Sanders, oldest son of Joel Pinkney and Mary Frances Wise Sanders, was born on November 13, 1895, in Houston County Texas. Vernon, the name by which he was always called, married Sarah Louise Leediker, the daughter of Adam and Josephine Leediker. His occupation was variously school teacher, grocer, farmer, rancher and Tax Assessor Collector of Houston County. He was always highly respected from within the family as well as throughout the county. Although never a candidate for public office he was a constant factor in the politics of the county, state and national elections (e.g., a strong LBJ supporter).

He was an avid quail hunter and an excellent shotgun shooter, regularly taking the limit and once took ten birds with only eleven shots. He enjoyed other sports as well, particularly major league baseball which he followed to his death. As a fisherman, he liked all types from trotline to bait casting. He was particularly fond of overnight fishing trips to Trinity River and the overflow lakes in the western part of Houston County. The usual routine was setting and baiting the trotlines, then playing dominoes until time to run the lines and rebait. This went on to the early hours of the morning.

A very skilled "horse trader," he bought and sold cattle as successfully as anyone in the county. But, he operated so conservatively that he never accumulated the size operations as did others of his era. Worth noting, however, he never went broke as did many of the others.

He was very much a part of the community "crony club" who played dominoes at Ernest Brasher's store. This was an every Sunday afternoon affair and often on Saturday as well. He enjoyed a bond with the other men of the community unlike anything experienced in today's social culture. All of them were working hard and trying to survive the 1930s as best they could. Available recreation was simple and necessarily without cost, but that certainly did not detract from the enjoyment.

He was diagnosed with cancer of the middle ear in early 1953 and subsequently died on November 28, of that same year at the age of 58. Louise died of congestive heart failure in 1976 at the age of 82.

The children of Vernon and Louise are Dorothy Vernon Sanders Watkins and Howard Karl Sanders. Dorothy was married to Buford Marvin Watkins and two children were born to that marriage, Bruce Howard and Paula Ruth. Howard, the author of this work, was married to Betty Lou Wiederhold and two children were born to that marriage, Karla Gayle and Teri Lynn.

The next issue of Sanders Siftings will feature some stories from The Sanders Family of Eastern Kentucky by Mary Donna Ratliff Foley, October 1996. Her history covers the descendants of Thomas Jefferson Sanders and Elizabeth McBrayer. The history starts with Jacob Sanders (c1760-70) in Floyd County, Kentucky. ■

Descendants of "Mitchell" Sanders with Cherokee Connections

Compiled by Charlotte M. Meyer, 212 N. Eliza St., Maquoketa, IA 52080, [cmmeyer@caves.net]. Most of the information came from a professional Cherokee genealogist.

Need Information on James Tulley Sanders, Missouri

Gale A. Cottrell, 29 Green Lake Dr., Orchard Park, N.Y. 14127, [TCotr9698@aol.com]. Sanders, James Tulley b. Kentucky, 32 on 1850 census, Taney Co., Mo. He was listed as a deputy marshal on the census. Married to Elizabeth Price. Elizabeth and the two boys died in 1857 due to an epidemic in Taney Co., Mo. Obit mentioned her leaving three daughters and an infant son. Children: M.M., William Harvey, Frank Lawrence, M.E. and Priscilla A., b. 1 Jan. 1853, Forsyth, Taney Co., Mo., and James. Priscilla married Josiah G. Danforth, 18 June 1871, Springfield, Mo. Priscilla A. is my gg-grandmother. M.M. and Priscilla ended up living with their mother's sister Priscilla Price Danforth (she had married John Danforth, uncle of Josiah mentioned above) in Springfield, Mo. Need info on what happened to the sisters and their father James T. Sanders. One son, M. M. Sanders, was nine on the 1850 Taney Co., Mo. census. He married 6 May 1858, A. E. Ridge in Springfield, Mo. ■

Sally, died June 14, 1856. In Joel's last will and testament it states that he bequeathed to his son Philorous and William the sum of one dollar while the rest of the children received Joel's inheritance. Does anyone know why? I would appreciate corresponding with anyone out there who knows anything about this family and where the children migrated to after they left Michigan.

I also have a picture of a Walter and Malory Sanders taken at Castle Rock, Wash., possibly taken in the late 1800s. I do not know how he fits into the family. I would be willing to send a copy of this picture to anyone who is related to this couple. ■

Looking for Stephen Eugene Sanders

Laura W. Griffith, 250 Terrane Ridge, Peachtree City, GA 30269-4020, [laurawg@mindspring.com] is searching for parents of Stephen Eugene Sanders b. 1822, Tenn. His father was born in N.C. (from census). Stephen m. 1st to Nancy Carraway (b. 1822) in 1849. It is possible that they lived in the Murfreesboro, Tenn. area at one time. Their children were: W.H., b. abt 1850; Anne, b. abt 1852; George, b. abt 1854; Albert Lee, b. abt 1856; James B., b. abt 1858; Stephen Frank, b. abt 1860; Sam P., b. abt 1863; Allen; and Alford, b. abt 1865 (twins). Nancy Carraway Sanders died sometime after the birth of the twins. Stephen Eugene Sanders married a second time before 1882 to Mary Elizabeth Castleman (b. 1848, Tenn.; died about 1919 in Dresden, Tenn.). Stephen and Mary E. Castleman Sanders had the following "known" children: (1) Mattie Florence, born 1887 who married Charles Albert McGill in 1905 and farmed in west Tenn. (Madison Co.)—several children (my line); (2) Pearl, born 1884, who married Walter Rhyther; (3) Sewell "Lice" Sanders, born abt. 1882. ■

Teresa McMillian Needs Information on James S. Sanders, Born in Virginia

Teresa McMillian, 1900 Shorewood Lane, Mound, MN 55364-1317, [tmcmillanb@worldnet.att.net]. Looking for information about James S. Sanders b. 1786 in Va., do not know what county. This James married a Mary, also from Va., probably sometime 1804-1807. By 1810 this couple is in Adair Co, Ky. Do not know where this marriage took place. Do not know where in Virginia to look for this couple. I know there were emigrants from Buckingham Co, Va. in Adair Co, Ky. at the same time. (Emigration route of my Thomas ancestors) There is also a John Sanders b. 1772 in Cabarrus Co, N.C. who is in Adair Co, Ky. in 1810. John's older children were born in Wilkes Co, N.C. Cannot figure out if there is a connection here. Anyone else looking at Sanders in Virginia in the late 1700s who recognizes this James & Mary as "missing"? ■

ASSORTED QUERIES . . .

Susan Saunders, 1267 N. 4469th Road, Earlville, IL 60518-6124 is looking for information on 4g-grandparents, Gunnell Saunders (b. 10 Mar 1748, d. 2 Jun 1825, Ky.) and Eleanor/Nellie/Ellen Robinson (b. 1740-1750, Ga.). Both are buried on a farm near Balm, Fleming Co., Ky. Children were: Sarah, Nancy, William, Gunnell (3g-grandfather), Ellen, Oliver, Sylvanus, Moses, Aaron, Polly, and Harry. Also need information on his father and mother, James Sanders (d. 17 Apr 1778, possibly Loudoun Co., Va.) and Sarah Gunnell (d. 21 Sep 1793. Want to know when they came from Scotland or anything else about them. Children were: Mary, William, John, Gunnell, James, Barbary, Presley, Henry, Moses, Aaron, and Cyrus.

Kelly Hendrix, 15920 Birmingham Hwy., Alpharetta, GA 30201, [Khend79@aol.com] is searching for family of William Fletcher Sanders, born about 1820 in Georgia who married Mary Caroline Carter, born abt 1822.

First located in Paulding County in 1840. William's father could be Stephen or Benjamin. He probably had a brother named Nicholas who was born abt 1826 and one named James B. M. born about 1814. William and Mary had 9 children. William died before the 1870 U.S. census in Polk or Haralson County, Ga.

Mrs. Gunnar O. Esse, 418 Paloma, Corpus Christi, TX 78412-2649 is looking for the parents and other information for her ancestor, Joseph P. Sanders, b. about 1847 (census records), and served in the 13th Miss. Infantry of the C.S.A., enlisting from Isney, Choctaw Co., Ala. According to 1870 census, he was born in Alabama; 1880 census - Georgia; and 1900 census - Mississippi. Death certificate says he was born 1 Jun 1831 in N.C., when he died 16 Jun 1927 in Miss., and his parents were Wm Sanders (N.C.) and Louisa Simmons (N.C.). Joseph P. was married to Mary (Pollie) Everett. Their children were Jehu/Gehu B. (b. 13 Oct 1866, Ala.); Thorgood (b. 1868, Ala.); Lucy Opella (Miss.); George Lionel (b. 8 Apr 1881); and Thomas J. (b. 15 Apr 1884, Miss.). Can anyone help her with this conflicting information?

Regina Falcetto, 1831 Calle de Loma, Emporia, KS 66801, [falcetto@valu-line.com]. Her Sanders line is in Stokes Co., N.C. Her oldest known person is Naham Sanders who died March 1794 in Stokes County. Wife was Suzanne. Known children include Arden, Martha, Arthur, Jesse, Richard, Benjamin, and at least two other daughters. Her line is Martha who married James King in 1791 in Stokes County. Help extending this line would be appreciated.

Marian Sanders, 585 Heather Ave., Alden, IA 50006-8021, [msanders@iafalls.com] is researching Sanders in Mendham Township, Morris Co., N.J. in the late 1700s and early 1800s. Also Lukeman, Bryan, and Pennington.

Douglas Young, 735 East 105th Place, #C304, Northglenn, CO 80233, [wyoun141@concentric.net]. Maybe someone can help me find George Sanders (b. 1855, d. 1885) married Rachel A. Rigdom (b. 1862, d. 1937) their son, James Barter Sanders (b. 1880, d. 1966) in Buffalo, Leon Co., Tex., married Martha Parker, also from Leon County. Their children are Pearl, Florence, Flora, Leona, James Howard, Alice Nellene, Truman Leroy, Glover Parker, all from East Texas. Elmer R. Andrews (b. 1915, d. 1978) in Walker County, Tex., married Alice Nellene Sanders. Would appreciate any information on any of this line.

Greg Inman, 1308 Windridge Lane, Fremont, MI 49412, [ginman@ncats.net]. Seek to exchange information with anyone regarding the descendants of John Sanders and Alice Coles of Salem, Mass. My descent is as follows: John 1 Sanders, m. Alice Coles; John 2 Sanders m. Priscilla Grafton; James 3 Sanders, m. Sarah Page; John 4 Sanders, m. Mary Sargent; Jacob 5 Sanders; m. Ann Barney; Benjamin 6 Sanders m. Mary Davis; Jacob 7 Sanders m. Lydia Martin; and Huldah 8 Sanders m. Earl P. Inman. My line later lived in Rehoboth and Swansea, Mass. then removed to New York living first at Newport until 1814, and then Homer, Cortland Co. I am interested in all lines of this family, as well as info on any of the collateral families.

From Garrett R. Foy, 1211 Navajo Court, Louisville, KY 40207 [Grfmtf@aol.com]. His mother's biological parents, Edward Sanders and Lula Striley, placed her, Louise Pauline Sanders, for adoption at birth in Vigo County, Ind. in 1910 and the records still are sealed. He wants to locate the children, grandchildren, or researchers who can help in researching this line.

Camp Gilliam, 1709 Santa Maria, Kingsville, TX 78363, [cgilliam@int-comm.net]. I descend from a James Saunders/Sanders, an "old man at the time of the American Revolution." His daughter (b.1749) married Col. William Trigg and moved to Sumner Co, Tenn. This Saunders group were from Lancaster Co., Va., but James moved to Orange Co., N.C. There is disagreement over the relationship of William Saunders (b. abt 1700) with James. William m. an Adams. Some have William the father of James. I lean to the other view: that James and William were brothers. Anyway, someone has worked out the genealogy that William descends from three Edward Saunders in a row in Lancaster and before Lancaster, Northumberland, and perhaps New Kent before that. Could someone please help me with this line.

Elaine Johnson, 1691 West 190 South, Rexburg, ID 83440, [elaine2@ida.net]. Does anyone recognize these people? Samuel Saunders (1771-1850) married Olive Brooks (1781-1856). Children: Juda Sanders (1816-1893), m. Sarah "Sally" Parsons (1817-1901); Irena Saunders (1819-1904), m. Charles P. Squires; Harlow Saunders (1823), m. Mary Ann Kensey; Roxa Saunders (1825), m. Thomas Morford; Hiram Saunders (1826-1907), m. Jane Beal.

Children of Juda and Sarah Sanders: Frederick Sanders (1838); Franklin A Sanders (1840-1914), m. Dora D. Covey (1856-1932); Martha Fannie "Mattie" Sanders (1844), m. Clement Brook; Ralph Max or Mac Sanders (1847), m. Priscilla Coulter; Annette Sanders (1857), m. Daniel McKnight; Ellen "Nell" Sanders, m. Clark or Wilson; Emily Sanders, m. Levi N. Barnes; Hiram Edward Sanders (1863); Abby Lucine Sanders (1863-1936), m. Thomas Jefferson Neal Bettendorf.

Wanda Stanfill, 1812 4th Street, Woodward, OK 73801, would like to learn more about Polly Saunders, wife of Samuel Farrington of Davidson Co., N.C. Samuel was born abt 1765 in N.C. Perhaps Polly was his 2nd wife. Also, two of my (indirect) lines married three children of John Saunders/Sanders (of Guilford Co., N.C.) and Jane Crew. These lines are Elmore and Johnson.

Lin Van Buren, Saxon Mansions, 13 Grand Parade, Saint Leonard's on Sea, East Sussex TN38 0DE, United Kingdom, [veeb@uk.pipeline.com]. Seek parents for Aaron Saunders (c1772-1854), who was born somewhere in Va. and died in Caswell Co., N.C. He married c1799 (where?) Susannah Gibbs daughter of Shadrach Gibbs of Halifax Co., Va. and later of S.C., Caswell Co., N.C., Tenn., and Ala. Aaron's mother may have been the Elizabeth Saunders next door to him as head of a household in the 1800 Caswell Co., N.C. census. Does this Aaron Saunders descend from the Sanders family of Loudoun Co., Va.? Near him were people named Mason Sanders, Taylor Sanders, Smith Sanders, and Presley Sanders.

From Jana Sanders-Humphrey, 1100 E. Lamar Blvd #8, Arlington, TX 76011, [shrike@dfw.net]. Elisha Sanders Sr., b. abt 1782 in Va., died Jackson Co., Tenn. He married Elizabeth Campbell born about 1790 in Ky., died 1861 Jackson Co., Tenn. They had a child, Elisha Jr., b. abt 1816 in Jackson Co., Tenn., died 1891 Hamilton Co., Illinois. Possible siblings to Elisha are: Ann Maria, b. 1806; Henry, b. 1814; Sarah, b. 1822; Lenora, b. 1830; and Thomas, b. 1830. Anyone connect?

J. Hickey, P. O. Box 365, South Royalton, VT 05068 [jeh217@aol.com]. Miriam Sanders/Saunders daughter of William Sanders/Saunders was b. 11 Jul 1852/54 in Pembroke, Washington Co., Maine. Miriam married James Wesley Colley, Jr. on 31 Jan 1870. Their first four sons were born in Pembroke—William, Lewis, Alfred and Arthur. The family then moved to Waterford, N.Y. where last son Guy was born. Miriam died in Waterford on 19 Nov 1932. Any info on Miriam's siblings, parents and ancestors would be greatly appreciated.

Dale R. Lutz, 518 Crestview Drive S., St. Paul, MN 55119-5502, [drlutz@mmm.com] is seeking family of Elizabeth Sanders, who married Henry Pruitt (Prewitt) in 1806. He was born in Henry Co., Va., in 1788. Their children were born in Madison Co., Ky., after 1820.

Jim Arnett, 2703 Glen Ridge Drive, Arlington, TX 76016, [jarnett@star-text.net]. I am particularly interested in finding any information on Thomas Sanders (b. between 1800 and 1810 in S.C.?), married Charlotte Briggs bef. 1829 in Miss. Charlotte was born between 1810 and 1820 and died 19 Nov 1837 in Madison Co., Miss. They had at least two children. My great-grandfather was James Monroe Sanders (b. 27 Mar 1829 in Madison Co., Miss., d. 7 Mar 1889, Terrebonne Par., La.).

Suella Fogg Postles, 10 West Leake Road, East Leake, Loughborough, England, UK LE126LJ, [pot@le.ac.uk] is looking for details of a 9xgreatuncle, James Saunders who was married to Sarah Paige. Sarah was christened 18 Jul 1651 in Hingham, Mass.. Her father was John Paige (1615-1687) and her mother was Mary Marsh (1614-1659).

Janice W. Autry, 225 Morning Star Ct., Woodland Park, CO 80863-9015 would like information on her g-g-grandfather, Briton Sanders (1803-1887), who left Upson Co., Ga., and went to Burleson/Lee Co., Tex., in the early 1860s. Her g-grandfather, Thomas J. Sanders, was a Confederate soldier from Georgia. There were several Thomas J. Sanders who were Confederate soldiers from Georgia.

Georgia Cooper Seeking Sanders From Georgia

Georgia Cooper, 2996 Plaza Azul, Santa Fe, NM 87505-5338, [geolcooper@juno.com]. My ancestor is James M. Sanders, married to Elizabeth (could be Allen?). He was from Georgia and she was from Tenn. The whole family is on the Prairie Bayou Twp, Hot Spring Co., Ark. 1860 census. He was 41 and said he was born in Ga. An epidemic must have hit them because James M. and half of the children are missing from the 1870 census. Three children were born in that ten years. Our ancestor Martha LuEllen was six and a little brother, James M. was four. The next census in 1880 shows Martha LuEllen married to Noble Washington Ladd. They moved on to homestead near Lenora, Okla. Where did James M. Sanders come from? Who were his parents and siblings? ■
